SLACKER LIST PUT UP TO DRAFTEES

Adjutant General Holds Unjustly Accused Men Responsible

REPLY TO CRITICISM

Puts Blame on Men—Claims Waa Department Used Every Effort to Avoid Mistake

Washington, May 14.—The principal responsibility for the serious errors in the War Department's "slacker list" was run down yesterday. It was, according to the department, the fault of the men themselves who are falsely branded as draft dodgers and not the fault of the department

Even though errors have been found in the comparatively brief lists so far made public and though injustice has been done to the men who served honorably in the war, yet have been officially branded as deserters, the War Department makes no apology for its policy of publication. It still feels that the value of exposing those whose names ought to be pilloried overbalances the misfortune which is visited upon those who were mistakenly listed.

Also the department continues to insist that it checked and double checked the lists before requesting the newspapers to publish them; that all possible precautions were taken not to pillory a man as a deserter unfairly, and it is, after all, an advantage to the man unjustly dealt with to publish his name and give him the opportunity to correct the record rather than to allow the record to remain wrong for all time.

In substance these are the views of the War Department and its answer to the sharp criticism which has been passed upon it as a result of the blunders made in the draft lists Newspapers all over the country are refusing to print the names, even though urged to do so by the Government, for the reason that they refuse to be parties to such injustices as have been discovered. Some newspapers which began printing the lists have suspended their publication until such time as further checking for errors has been done.

Adjt.-Gen. Peter C. Harris, of the army, who has jurisdiction over the whole of the War Department's records and who is immediately responsible for the lists as now authorized, makes this answer to the charge of incompleteness on the part of the department's draft records:

"The question of the completeness of official records is only indirectly involved in this matter. It may be stated, however, that the records of the men who served in the army during the World War are as nearly complete as it was possible to make them under wartime conditions and it is practically certain that a record, which is readily accessible, exists of the services of every individual who served during the war.

"The principal source of the difficulty encountered," General Harris adds, "in determining whether or not a registrant, though failing to respond to the call of the local board, actually did enter the army and performed military service, is directly attributable to the men themselves, who failed to apprise their respective local board of that fact.

"It must be realized that in an army of more than 4,000,000 it was a common occurrence to find many men bearing exactly the same name. There were over 2,100 John Johnsons, over 21,000 William Johnstons and more than 3,000 John Smiths with a variety of middle initials. In many cases men of the same name entered the service from the same locality and ofttimes their physical descriptions do not serve to distinguish them. Frequently their wives have identical given names.

"Under these conditions the War Department naturally, very naturally, found it impossible at times to identify a registrant charged with desertion with a man of the same name who voluntarily enlisted, say, in the navy in some other State."

DEATH LIST MOUNTS IN MINGO AREA

Six Persons Known to Have Been Killed

WOMEN FLEE

Refugees Take to Hills or Leave District as Police Try in Vain to Check Hostilities

Williamson, W. Va., May 14.—The battle zone of the Williamson coal district was shrouded last night in darkness that was illumined only by rifle flashes from the Kentucky and West Virginia mountains, as the second day of fighting closed with the belligerency of the mountain riflemen apparently undiminished.

Reports received here at State Police headquarters for the district told of a general exodus of women and children from the embattled mining towns, the refugees going either to the hills not infested with riflemen or leaving the district altogether.

The few remaining inhabitants cuddled in lightless houses and tent colonies, hoping in the darkness to find safety from the hail of lead that has been pouring out at intervals all day long.

An emissary of the State forces taking part in the battle late last night approached the stronghold of a leader of the mountaineers under a flag of truce and asked that the mountain men cease firing into villages in this region. This information was reveived here last night from Chief Deputy Sheriff Hall, who sent one of his men into the hills to confer with the attacking party.

Hall reported to Sheriff Pinson that his emissary, carrying a piece of white muslin on a stick, reached the party of men who were raining bullets into a nearby town. The mountaineers respected the white flag, and when the deputy made known his mission of peace, according to Hall, a leader of the forces opposed to the State officers, replied that the hill men would accept a truce only when the firing from the Kentucky side of the river had ceased.

Only the most meager details of today's fighting had reached Williamson last night over crippled telephone lines and from the lips of arrivals from the zone of fiting, but from the conflicting mass of reports it seemed certain that yesterday's death toll of two had been increased during the day to at least six, while acceptance of all the reports would place the killed at from 10 to 15. Two men are reported to have been killed at McCarr, Ky., at the eastern end of the troubled area, while other reports placed the total there at five.

At Matewan one, and possibly two, have been killed.

Less definite reports from Merrimac, Rawl and Sprigg tell of killings at these towns and other unconfirmed reports recite killings that have occurred on the Kentucky side of the Tug river, opposite Matewan.

Fierce fighting was reported during the day from all the towns that figured in yesterday's attack—Rawl, Merrimac, Sprigg, Matewan and McCarr, while new attacks were reported to have occurred late today at thte little town of Gates, near Matewan.

Capt. J. R. Brockus in command of the State police, who made an attempted flanking operation into the mountains yesterday, but lost his quarry, went to Sprigg late yester-

BIG TRACK MEET BATTLE IN PROGRESS

Four High Schools Seek Coveted Championship Cup

FOUR IN CONTEST

Manassas and Leesburg 15 Points and Alexandria High 13 and Warrenton 1 at 3 p. m.—Large Crowd Present

As the Gazette goes to press four high schools are battling in a track and field meet for the possession of the championship cup for the Eighth Congressional district of Northern Virginia.

Our local school has been in possesion of the cup twice, but lost same in the last district meet one year ago. The Alexandria school has a record envied by all schools in the state and the final result of this meet will be quite interesting not only here but throughout the entire district.

Hooff of Manassas, won the final in the 100 yard dash making the distance in 10 3-5 second, Titus, of Leesburg, second; Larson, of Manassas, third; and fourth place went to Leesburg.

In the broad jump Midkiff, of Alexandria, won, jumping the distance of 18 feet 7 1-2 inches; Drake of Leesburg, second Southard, of Alexandria, third, and Nowland, of Alexandria, finishing fourth.

Drake, of Leesburg won the high jump clearing the cross bar at 5 feet 4 inches; Myers, of Alexandria, second, and the remaining points in this event went to Manassas.

Waters, of Manassas, won the mile race with Titus of Leesburg second; Cockey, of Alexandria, third, and Duncan, of Warrenton, fourth.

The points of each participating school up to 3 o'clock this afternoon follows:

Alexandria, 13; Manassas 15; Leesburg 15; Warrenton 1.

The affair is attended by a large gathering of friends of the participating schools together with many adults. It is one of the most successful track meets ever held in this district.

Final Performance

Large Audience Witnesses "Springtime"

The final performance of "Springtime" went off without a hitch last night, the opera house was filled to capacity with an appreciative audience, and the John B. Rogers Producing Company productions will always draw a crowd, after the three successful shows they have staged, Katcha-Koo, by J. W. Johnson. Oh, Oh, Cindy, by Miss Louise Close, with the climax of Springtime, under the efficient training of W. Grant La Mont, an unusually capable director.

The participants did even better than the previous night, adding to their already fine reputations in amateur theatricals, and one of the outstanding character parts, Zenobia; was played by Miss Nina Fulton who deesrves especial credit for the way in which she handled the part.

Beautiful bouquets of pink roses were given Miss Katherine Waller and Mrs. Edgar Warfield in appreciation of their services in playing for rehearsals and at the performances.

The Citizens' Band was prevented from playing outside the opera house by the rain, but their playing during the intermission, was greatly enjoyed.

Bans Sunday Sports

Through an error in the Gazette yesterday afternoon, it was inadvertently stated that the city school board had granted permission to use the high school grounds for athletic purposes on Sunday. Such was not the case, the board having passed a resolution prohibiting such on the Sabbath.

Meet Mrs. Harding

Alexandria Girl Scouts Are Honored As Guests of D. C. Scouts

Of course, it is a great honor to speak to and shake hands with a great general, but when you not only do that, but also meet and talk to the "first lady of the land" it is a memorable occasion, indeed. So think Alexandria's Girl Scouts, who, with their captain, Mrs. Esther Paul Jones, as guests of the Washington Girl Scouts, had the privilege of participating in a great procession of little women, starting from Farragut Square and ending up in the beautiful auditorium of the D. A. R., building. There they listened to the celebrated National Marine Band, met such great people as General Pershing, Mrs. Harding, the Belgian consul, as well as the nationally known leaders of the Girl Scout Movement, such as Mrs. Arthur Choate, of New York, and others. General Pershing himself presented the awards of the year to the Washington Girl Scouts, after which the latter entertained the assembly with demonstrations of "scout work," such as life saving, the household arts, babycare, and signalling. Mrs. Harding was then made honorary president of the Girl Scouts of America. There followed a number of charming talks, in which the Alexandria Girl Scouts will long remember the following:

"A Girl Scout's training is a training for perfect womanhood."

"The ideal Girl Scout is an ideal character, expressed in perfect honor, and trustworthiness, constant striving toward self improvement, and unselfish service to God and man."

"Nothing can benefit the future women of our country more than Scouting." Mrs. Harding then shook hands with each girl and this perfect evening closed with a "hike," four abreast, from the D. A. R. building to the Twelfth Street Station, and then "home again."

Hostess At Cards

Miss Kathleen Quinn Entertains Graduating Class of St. Mary's Academy

Miss Kathleen Quinn was hostess at a charming card party, last Thursday afternoon at her residence on North Washington street in compliment to the graduating class of St. Mary's Academy.

The living room and reception hall were attractively decorated with a profusion of spring flowers, marigolds and roses. Among those playing were Misses Rosella Burke, Catherine Grace, Regina Gorman, Alice Mackey, Elizabeth Ramage, Mary Armour, Josephine Ramage, Ruth Middleton, Christine Roberson and Arvid Samuelson.

Novel prizes were awarded for the highest score to Miss Arvid Samuelson, for the lowest to Miss Alice Mackey.

Later in the evening at a prettily appointed supper, delicious refreshments were served.

The color scheme of the table was effectively carried out in the class colors of gold and silver.

Miss Quinn was assisted in receiving by her mother, and aunt, Mrs. Joseph L. Schwarzman.

DOLLAR DAY SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Elaborate Preparations Made by Participating Merchants

BIG BARGAINS READY

Will Demonstrate That Purchasing Power of Dollar is Closer to 100 Per Cent Than Since War

Wednesday will be dollar day.

This announcement in itself is amply sufficient to every housekeeper to patronize the stores of the participating merchants on that day.

Several DOLLAR DAYS have been given here every few months and all have proved successful. The coming Dollar Day is going to surpass Any Dollar Day ever before attempted by the merchants.

The merchants are making elaborate preparations for the feast of bargains they propose to present the public with and they are going to show that the actual purchasing power of the dollar is today closer to 100 per cent than any time since the world war.

Cut prices will be the order of the day on practically everything in the stores, and if you want to find out whether or not there has been a tremendous slash in old high cost of living simply read the advertisements in next Tuesday' Gazette.

The bargains to be offered the public on Wednesday are simply better than any ever offered in Alexandria according to the merchants and this day is going to be a wonderful opportunity for every one to take advantage of Alexandria's biggest and best bargain day.

Practically all of the merchants are going to participate in the Dollar Day sale and indications points to high success from every angle for this greatest of bargain days. If you miss Wednesday's bargains you are to blame.

A list of the merchants whose ads will appear in Tuesday's Gazette will be announced in Monday's issue.

S. S. Ball League

Seventy-Six Register—Tag Day Next Saturday

Seventy-six base ball players have registered in the Sunday School Base Ball League. This number was turned in at the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last night and will constitute the last of men from whom will be selected the "regulars" for the league season. The league meeting was well attended last night and the boys were on the job from the beginning and transacted business like veterans.

The league decided that the weather was entirely too uncertain to put on the tag day today and it was postponed until next Saturday, May 21. The tags are all ready and the young ladies will greet the Alexandrian

Matrimonial Troubles

Colored Man With Razor Gets Off and Judge is Overcome by His Poverty

The bark of matrimony does not always glide in peaceful waters. This was demonstrated today in the police court when a recent bride appeared as complainant against her husband whom she charged with drunken and disorderly conduct and also destroying some of her furniture. Hubby she asserted does not work and she added "He is a sign for poolrooms." The court settled the case by imposing a fine of $35.

Coming all the way from his former place of employment in Johnstown, Pa., enroute to his home in Norfolk and then arrested by Policeman Magner on a charge of carrying a razor was the experience of Richard Whitter, colored. His assets he told the court consisted of six cents. Justice Snow was completely overcome with his poverty and not only acquitted the prisoner but furnished him the price of a breakfast and Whittler left supremely happy over his experience.

Mildred Turner, colored, became incensed at George Lewis, colored, when he slapped her. She testified that he contradicted her statement about the color of a man whom she knew and this resulted in taking the law into his own hands. George, however, told the court another story and the prisoner was acquitted. Police men Lawrnece Padgett and Talbot made the arrest.

Two persons arrested by Policemen Durrer for violating speed and traffic laws forfeited collateral and this ended the day's docket.

RATE DECISION EXPECTED SOON

Interstate Commerce Commission on Washington-Virginia Fare Boost

HAS TILL JUNE 13

Report Will be Subject to Amendment by Either Side—Arguments Heard Two Months Ago.

Washington, D. C., May 14.—Decision on the application of the Washington-Virginia Railway Company to lift the suspension order against higher tariffs filed by the company during January is expected to be handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission within a shore time. Unless further suspended or withdrawn the proposed higher rates will become effective at midnight June 13.

The commission heard arguments on the case nearly two months ago, Examiner A. R. Mackley sitting and Commissioners Meyer, McChord and Aitcheson heard final summing up of argument for both sides a month ago. Examiner Mackley is expected to submit his tentative report to the commission very shortly. The report will be subject to amendment by either side on filing of briefs by either complainant or defendant. Soon after the tentative report is made the commission is expected to hand down its final decision in the case.

The road has petitioned the commission, in the tariffs now under suspension, for a flat each fare increase of 10 per cent and abolishment of the 25 trip family ticket now sold on the road. Officials of the road claim additional revenue of more than $800,000 annually is needed to preserve its solvency. Summing up of argument for the road brought out the assertion by attorneys that the road had actually lost money over is operating expenses for the first few days of April.

Sunny Weather Citizens.

Mrs. Bergdoll, the mother who most assuredly did not raise her boy to be a soldier on the stand yesterday before the House investigating committee, was asked whether or not Grover Cleveland Bergdoll had ever said anything about returning to America.

"Yes, he did," she replied, "He said he was coming back just as soon as this separate peace resolution was signed I guess he likes America better than he does Germany."

Yes, he likes America better than he does Germany He likes the comforts and conveniences and money making possibilities of America; but as clearly shown he has no use for the dangers and duties of citizenship which they entail. He is one of those sunny weather citizens, who, like sunny weather friends, are always thick when everythinf goes well but who invariably disappear in stormy weather.

And, unless we miss our guess, there will be yet several months before the separate peace resolution he talks about and upon which he pins his hope is signed by the President of the United States.

Pershing in His Right Place

After looking all around and trying to find some kind of convenient place into which to shelve General Pershing, the Secretary of War and the General Staff have finally bowed to the inevitable and accepted him as Chief of Staff.

It would have been ridiculous to do anything else. The highest officer in the Army, by act of Congress and in recognition of paramount services rendered, General Pershing has been for some time in the preposterous position of being a full General serving under a Major General. That it could not last was seen from the start. An attempt was made to create some new kind of a general headquarters with the General in charge but it was obviously a thinly disguised effort to find something for him to do and it has been in effect abandoned.

The services of Gen. Pershing to the American people clearly entitle him to the highest military rank and a position in the military establishment commensurate with it. The Army and the nation are to be congratulated that this is to be recognized and the General made Chief of Staff.

And in this connection it should be said that the retiring Chief of Staff, General Peyton C. March, fulfilled the arduous and difficult duties of the position during the greatest military peril this country has ever been called upon to face, and that he fulfilled them in a way creditable to American arms and conducive to American victory. The arrows and slings of outrageous fortune and political turn overs cannot rob him of that distinction.

Miss Hamilton Shields of Virginia is made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the French Government on account of her servces in nursing the wounded of the World War, according to a dispatch from Paris. Old Virginia never tires.

The irreconciliables of the Senate will lie low, they announce, in the matter of protesting against the President's foreign policy. Yes until after the pie is cut and distributed.

TO TOUR VIRGINIA CITIES FOR IRISH CAUSE

Richmond, Va., May 14.—On the eve of his tour of the Virginia cities, Rev. Albert W. Allen, minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church and champion of the cause of the Irish Republic, talked interestingly of his mission in this state as official organizer of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic.

Dr. Allen, a direct descendant of General Ethan Allen, the hero of Ticonderoga, and who has not a drop of Irish blood in his veins, thus summarized the fundamental facts upon which Ireland's claim to the same freedom and independence that were won by the American Colonies in the Revolutionary War are based:

1.—That the people of Ireland constitute a distinct and separate nation ethnically, historically, and tested by every standard of political science; and that they are, therefore, entitled to self determination.

2.—That Ireland never voluntarily accepted British domination and that domination has been consistently challenged through the centuries.

3. That the people of Ireland in a general and regular parliamentary election, in effect a national plebiscite held under British supervision (thus eliminating completely any question of illegitimate influences in favor of the Republic) declared by an overwhelming majority their desire to be an Independent Republic.

4.—That the people's representatives, elected for the purpose, and summoned to meet in a National Congress (the Dail Eireann) formally proclaimed Ireland's independence as a Republic and notified its establishment as a Republic to all nations of the world.

5.—That the National Congress thus assembled elected and set up a Government, which Government is, on democratic principles, the de jure, and has ever since been functioning in fact as the obeyed, de facto government of Ireland; entitled, therefore, to international recognition.

6.—That the rival (British) authority in Ireland is an alien usurping authority—ignored and "non-existent" save within the immediate shadow of the fortresses of the Army of Occupation.

SPORTS

TRIPLE A PLAY TWO SUNDAY.

The Alexandria Athletic Association will play the Fort Myer team at Fort Myer Sunday morning. Game called 10 a. m. sharp. All players are requested to be at 706 King street not later than 8:45.

Sunday afternoon the Triple A. will play the Convention Hall Market team on the North Alfred street grounds at 2 p. m. Three new players will be seen in the line up of the local team. The new men will make the association team the strongest team now playing in amateur base ball in this part of the state. Jimmy Quayle will do the pitching for the home team in the morning game with Savage behind the bat. The infield will be made up of the new players and will show the home fans one of the fastest infields gotten together in this old town for a long time.

Every man in the lineup will be able to break up any game with good solid hits. Not a man can be found in its makeup that will not come through with good hits. Everybody welcome to see the new team take the field and enjoy a good afternoon of sport.

"Dreadnaughts Meet Quincy's" . .

Sunday, 3 p. m., on Baggett's field, in upper King street, the Dreadnaughts meet the Quincy Athletic Club, of Washington, in what is expected to be an exhibition of real base ball.

For the visitors, Beall, a twirler of sand lot renown, and Tredway will receive, making the hardest batting the "D's" have faced this season. With Smith on first, Lucas at second, Mills in third and Dougherty filling short, makes an infield hard to beat and the locals will have to "step lively" to just breeze through with the better end of the game.

The regular "D" field is used but Sunday will see on hand and that is a sufficient tip of the quality of ball you will see if you are one of the crowd that is at Baggett's field tomorrow.

How To Keep in Good Condition

Sound nerves, a clear head, good digestion, strength, endurance and general health depend upon clean blood. If the kidneys and bladder do not properly perform their functions, the blood cannot be clean and pure, for these organs filter and cast out the waste matter, impurities and poisonous acids that cause nervousness, rheumatic pains, backache, languidness, sore muscles, swollen joints, stiffness, puffiness under the eyes and other weakening symptoms.

WAS RELIEVED AT ONCE

"I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for nearly 6 years. Had severy bad spell about 5 years ago. Was confined to bed for 4 or 5 days, unable to turn without help. I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once. I take pleasure in recommending your kidney pills to all who have kidney trouble." John Heath, Michigan Bar, California.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

soothe, strengthen, heal overworked, weak and diseased kidneys and bladder. When these organs are working properly, the blood is cleansed and purified, appetite returns, good digestion follows, refreshing sleep is possible, health and strength come again. They have brought relief to thousands of men and women who thought old age was coming on before it was due.

Bohemian Girl

Balfe's Ever Popular Opera to be Given by Chautauqua Here in July

The Chautauqua program in Alexandria this season will be presented by a star cast of experienced singers and players who will have scenery constructed especially for their Chautauqua tour and elaborate costumes to provide a fitting background for their high grade artistry.

Who does not remember and who has not been thrilled by those perennial favorites among light operatic gems "Then You'll Remember Me," "The Heart Bowed Down," "I Dreamt that I Dwelt in Marble Halls" and the other well known airs of "The Bohemian Girl?"

"The Bohemian Girl" is but one of the 21 programs arranged for your 1921 Chautauqua. Other features will be:

The well known comedy drama, "Nothing But the Truth." Could you speak "Nothing But the Truth" for 24 hours, in order to win $10,000 provided you succeeded? Robert Bennett thought he could, and his many experiences in attempting to carry out this seemingly easy stipulation, make the action in this irresistibly funny farce.

"Nothing But the Truth," will be presented on the third night of the Chautauqua program. A company of experineced players will present the play. Special scenery and costumes will allow this comedy to be staged under the most favorable conditions. It is sure to rival, if not exceed, the success of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Dr. Gregory Zilboorg, Under Secretary, the Ministry of Labor, in Kerensky's cabinet, who escaped from the Russian Bolsheviki with a "tale to keep old men from the chimney corner," will speak on the fourth night.

Adopted no wto plan for Chautauqua Week, July 11 to 18th.

next Saturday with a smile and an invitation to boost the boys who would rather play base ball than eat.

New York, May 14.—Two post office swindling schemes, said to have netted $175,000, were exposed here today, the 13th, by postofice inspectors, who arrested three men. One is the alleged inventor of a money order system which resulted in the loss of $100,000 by people who cashed the orders.

Irving Resnick, alias Remick, was held in $50,000 bail by United States Commissioner Hitchcock. Three men alleged to be subordinate members of his money order gang, are held in another jail.

James E. Dunlay, for thirteen years a postoffice clerk, and Ralph Rosenberg, two years on the same job, were held in bail of $25,000 each charged with swingling the government out of $75,000 by retaining postal savings deposits received by them

Says U. S. Liners Have Bars Aboard in Full Blast

Washington, May 14.—Senator Jones, of Washington, father of the merchant marine act, an ardent dry, today warns that the Volstead law must be inforced on the sea as well as land.

Jones gave the warning in commenting on reports that American liners are operating bars full blast outside the three mile limit because the prohibition enforcement unit is without inspectors to watch the ships.

Prohibition Commissioner John Kramer, who yesteray began an investigation of the report, today said it would be almost impossible to enforce the law on ships without many additional inspectors.

BALTIMORE'S NICKEL NURSERY

By E. M. Colman

"Keep my babe? Yes? No?"

"Yes we will keep your baby."

Daily, excepting Sunday this eager question is breathlessly hurled at the matron of the Salvation Army's Slum Settlement and Day Nursery down at 219 South Anne street, and daily comes back the comforting assurance that sends the worried working mother rushing off to shop, or factory with her little one out of her arms and out of harm's way for the day.

Now the demand for admission for their children has become so great that many times daily must the refusal be given as the Board of Health has set a limit on the children admitted, though Captain Prendeville and her assistants would cheerfully take every little toddler brought to them if they had the room, beds and the equipment to care for them. Now twenty-five is all that can be accommodated.

There infants and toddlers are washed, fed, amused and put into snowy beds for their naps and the charge is five cents a day and no war tax.

Nothing in the world today is so cheap, and yet so freighted with value as this Salvation Army Service to mothers children.

Picture these little people of from six months to eight years as they are poked bundle fashion through the little side gate of the Settlement House before 7 o'clock each morning as their mother hastily answers the whistle call to the factory or packing house.

Dirty, smelly, cross and hungry, frequently swarming with vermin, these small American born Poles, Russians and Italians are anything but attractive samples of humanity. Unwelcome, forlorn and anemic bits of human flotsam, most of them born out of wedlock, they are pitifully pathetic.

On arrival, they are tagged, and their clothing removed either to be hung to air or washed. Sometimes a little one is brought to the Nursery without clothing the last having removed in months and where parents follow the custom of sewing them into their trappings in early fall and rip it when they are not divested until the next winter.

Often the first bath they have ever had they get at the Nursery for Captain Prendeville says "Every baby that comes to Godliness and Day Nursery to get their first bath is crying. She will do the cleaning thoroughly, too. After the first shock the children enjoy the novel sensation.

Fresh from dirty, dingy, airless homes and alleys, they are for the first time in their lives in the midst of cleanliness, order and beauty. Here no two rooms are quite alike. Far from the institutional ideal this is but close to the ideal home, for the Captain and her assistants have gathered Promptly at eleven chairs that nt are put up to charming little tables, and small Polander and Russian get the daily lesson in unselfishness and table manners.

To some, a tablecloth, napkin and regular tableware, too, are novelties not understood at all but endured, and rather enjoyed when delicious cocoa bread and butter, vegetable or bean soup is the return for using them. No one dish is served two days in succession.

In good weather the children are turned loose in the big sunshiny back yard where the tormenting neighborhood boodlums cannot molest them, or they romp at will in the cheerful nursery, with its abundant fresh air and sunshine, and when sleepy they are tucked away in snowy cribs—likewise, in many instances, the first introduction to a clean and individual bed.

Loving care has covered the entire sweep of floors with linoleum, that baby fingers of many of these unwanted, neglected, children may be protected from splinters.

In mid afternoon comes another red letter hour, when bread and jam is served in between wonderful sessions with handy teddy bears, hobby horses, kiddy cars, velocipedes, Noah's Arks, and noble colonies of dollies, and camps of soldiers.

Every night when the mothers come for them, they are turned over to her dressed in their own clothes, fresh and clean, after a perfect day where they had nothing but love and kindness, and where two square meals came by magic just at the right time.

In the midst of this baby paradise, secured for a nickel—and given without the nickel when it is not forthcoming—it is difficult to believe that children so young as these could be so steeped in vice and so cognizant of the horrible moral conditions in which they live.

In baby chatter, they prattle of a multiplicity of fathers, vice, profanity and obscenity, before they can do more than lisp the words.

Four generations of Poles are represented in the nursery attendance, the great grandmother, forty years in America, proudly boasts of her loyalty to her own land and Tongue by refusing to learn our language. Though she has worked all these years in a Baltimore Packing House her English is limited to counting up to ten and one expression "Go 'way," which she uses frequently and impartially.

Thanks to the Salvation Army Nursery's Americanization System of instruction through games, marches and songs, none of her descendants will boast of anything but good United States.

The half-day school children love the Nursery too. They speed every afternoon that they can there and tell their woes and joys to the Captain.

The General then points out that wide publicity had been given the department's intention to publish the names of draft deserters and alleged deserters with an opportunity to every one to inquire as to his status.

"Consequently," he said, "registrants who had any doubts about their status and yet remained so indiferent as to whether or not their names were included in the lists as to make no effort to have their records straightened out, have no just cause for complaint if their names are published along with those of other men who stand charged with desertion.

"As has already been explained, the War Department has done everything in its power to insure the correctness of the published lists and has succeeded in cutting down to approximately 155,000 names the original total of 489,003."

Whisky Pilfered From Truck As It Trundles Through Town

Pittsburgh, May 14.—While the driver apparently slept, or was "deaf and dumb" to all untoward acts of pedestrians and residents in the neighborhood, several men, a number of women and half a dozen children removed 40 cases of bonded whisky from a large red truck while it was passing along Muriel street, between South Twelfth and South Fourteenth streets, early today. People living on Muriel street watched the "booze" disappear from the truck for several minutes, then some one notified the police. Officers were hurried to the scene, but not until the red truck had disappeared and so had the 40 cases of whisky. Two men arrested charged with having been implicated in the "removal" disclaimed any knowledge of the liquor.

From eye-witnesses to the robbery it was learned that while the truck was pursuing its way six or seven men jumped aboard the rear end, let down the tail gate and passed out cases of liquor to men, women and children who were following in the wake of the truck. As soon as one of the "trailers" would get a case he or she would give ground for another waiting in turn.

When the police arrived no liquor was to be seen.

William Davis, aged 27, and Thomas Withers, aged 34, were arrested in connection with the robbery. A woman who gave her name as Julia Egner told the police that she saw Davis and Withers each carry a case of liquor and hurry toward the foot of South Thirteenth street, where police believe the whisky was hidden.

The police learned that the truck was an extra large one and contained between 150 and 200 cases of whisky. Several houses near where the robbery occurred were searched, but no trace of the missing liquor could be found.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear father, MESSIAH DRUMHELLER, who left us four years ago today, May 14, 1917.

Father, if I had seen you at the last,
And held your dying hand,
And heard the last sigh from your heart,
I wouldn't feel so bad.
Home is sad, oh God how lonely,
Lonely every night and day,
I often sit and wonder,
What you would think and say.
If you only knew the changes since you went away.

ALEXANDRIA WITNESSES

The Names or Alexandria Persons Familiar To All

Who are the witnesses?

They are Alexandria people—

Residents of Alexandria who have had kidney backache, kidney ills, bladder ills; who have used Doan's Kidney Pills. These witnesses endorse Doan's.

One Alexandria resident who speaks is B. C. Hall, 115 South Payne St. He says: "My kidneys were so sore I could hardly get up or down. I was so weak and lame across my back it was all I could do to bend over and lace up my shoes. I was always in misery no matter what position I was in. On top of all that I suffered from headaches and nervousness and my kidneys acted so freely at night I couldn't get any rest. When someone told me about Doan's Kidney Pills I was about used up. I got Doan's at Ashton's Drug Store and you can believe me I was surprised at the quick cure I got. I have had no return of kidney trouble since using Doan's".

Millionaire Ohican Divorced From His Stenographer Wife

Youngstown, Ohio, May 14.—The big sensation of the season here was sprung yesterday when "Tommy" Wells, millionaire clubman and scion of one of the most prominent families in this State was granted a divorce from Stasia Wells by Judge Cole, of Ravenna.

Wells is granted an absolute divorce on the ground of infidelity. The Court awarded Mrs. Wells alimony of $300 a month as long as she remains unmarried, with initial payment of $2,000; $4,000 attorney fees, $1,000 for attorneys and expenses in previous litigation.

Judge Cole found that Mrs. Wells had been guilty of wrongdoing in Cleveland, Lorain, Toledo, Goshen, Ind., and Chicago with H. M. Wallis, a young millionaire of Racine, Wis.

The Court's decision completely exonerated Mrs. Herbert Owen, of Youngstown, and Mrs. Sam Harris, of New York, of charges made by Mrs. Wills in defending herself against the charges of her husband.

Wells, in his complaint declared that he wife's departure from the path of virtue occurred while he was in France with the American Expeditionary Force during the World War.

The accusations were of such a nature as to shock even blase society here. The wife, a former stenographer, married Wells several years ago in New York. The match never met with the approval of the Wells family and, despite the fact that the young clubman built a palatial home for his wife in this city and surrounded her with every luxury, she was never received with "open arms" in the ultra-smart set.

Mrs. Wells filed a counter suit, charging her husband with intimacy with several women while he was in France.

Attorney Kenesly, chief counsel for Mrs. Wells, today filed a notice of appeal from the decision.

Dresses in Skirts To Escape Posses

Danville, Va., May 14.—Dressed as a woman, Carl Talley, alleged outlaw bootlegger, is believed by Danville police to be hiding somewhere in the hills near Reidsville, with a high-powered automobile at hand in which to make a dash for liberty in case he is tracked to his wilderness lair.

The hunt for the man, who is charged with the death of a Greensboro, N. C. policeman in a pistol duel fought in racing automobiles, was resumed today. News was received in Danville early this morning that Talley, under cover of darkness late last night, visited his home in the village of Spray, near Reidsville, and left with female attire and a large sum of money.

A suit for $25,000 has been entered against Talley by the administrator of the slain policeman and his bank accounts have been attached. Police believe that he visited his home, respite the risk, in order to carry the rest of his money to safety."

ATTORNEYS FOR WANDERER LAY CRIME TO "WAR LUST"

Chicago, May 14.—Attorneys for Carl Wanderer, who was given a 25 year sentence for killing his wife and her unborn baby and afterward sentenced to hang next June 16 for killing a "ragged stranger" who, he claimed, had held up his wife and himself, will appeal that he be sent to an asylum on the theory that "war lust" was responsible for the crime.

The attorneys yesterday cited the case of Filip Konowal, of Ottawa, Canada, Konowal enlisted in the war early and served for four years. After the war he was decorated with the Victory Cross, England's highest war honor. Shortly after his return home he killed a man. His defense was insanity and the court ruled, in effect, that the attention paid by him to the killing of men during the war was to a great extent responsible for his action.

Wanderer's father and attorneys are preparing the same plea for presentation, to the Governor and the Supreme Court, and will back up the plea with the statement of alienists.

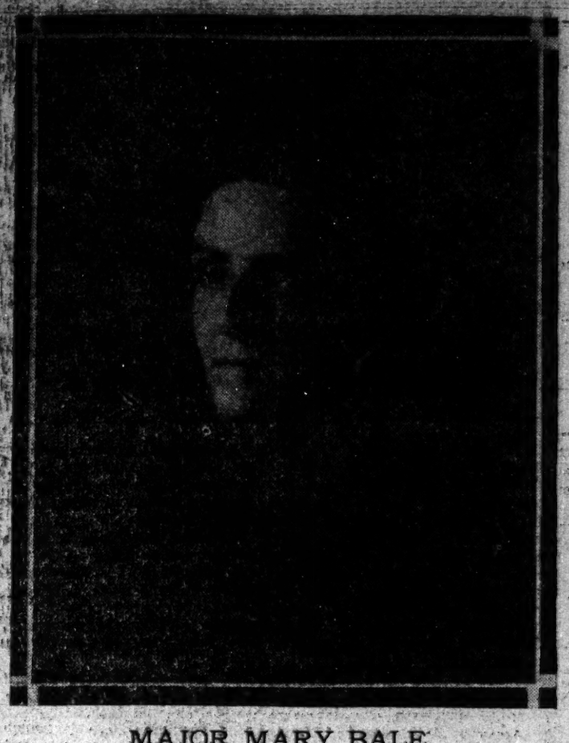
"The war undoubtedly 'broke' Carl Wanderer," said Dr. James Whitney Hall an alienist, who has spent much time studying him.

CHICAGO JANITORS' UNION OFFICIALS ARE INDICTED

Chicago, May 14.—Indictments against William F. Quesse, president of the Chicago Flat Janitors' Union, and nine other union officers, charging conspiracy, were voted by a grand jury yesterday. More than forty witnesses were called in an investigation which the State's attorneys office said grew out of threatened strikes unless wages of janitors were increased.

WHAT BALTIMORE HOPES TO DO THROUGH THE SALVATION ARMY

By Mrs. H. A. Coleman



MAJOR MARY BALE

"Baltimore has not progressed as rapidly in the establishment of Salvation Army activities as we would like and we are hoping to see a great development both in evangelistic work and also in our social work," declared Major Mary Bale, who with her husband Major Henry D. Bale, Divisional Commander of the Chesapeake Division, has recently come to Baltimore from Minneapolis. Major Bale shares rank and responsibility with her husband and is deeply anxious to see Baltimore lead this Division in all of the institutional activities which has made the Salvation Army such a power in the social and religious life of other cities.

"What do you most want to do in Baltimore?" this energetic lady was asked.

"Naturally my heart goes out first to the young women, girls and children, for there is so many of them needing and seeking the kind of help we Salvationists can give and we are after all so handicapped in resources that we can do so very little.

"You see," she continued, "Baltimore is a seaport town and a railway center. To it flock the young people from all over the State. Boats and trains alike bring throngs into Baltimore constantly, some of whom are criminals, many just victims seeking to lose themselves and hide their trouble in the bigness of our city. They are the ones that we must reach.

"Yes, they come to us—our uniform inspires trust and these girls come to us and we go to them when they are terrified, desperate, and hopeless, and the great pity of it is that up to the present time Baltimore has not been able to establish a Rescue Home and Maternity Hospital, and we can only take in these girls long enough to make arrangements to send them to our institutions in Roanoke or Philadelphia.

"No," answering the query, "the establishment of a Rescue Home and Maternity Hospital is not such a great undertaking. Usually we try to obtain the use of a large private house of about twenty-five rooms in some quiet neighborhood. It must be equipped in conformity to the State Laws, as to space, sanitary arrangements—and the like.

"Certainly, these places in all of the big cities throughout the world are managed by Salvation Army Officers—women—who are graduate nurses, and there is one Salvation Army Officer to every five girls, for you see, the girls we get only when they feel that every other face and hand is turned from them. Many times, we have stood between them and suicide. They must be sheltered, won back to normal, brought to conversion, brought to care for their babies, and made to see that their greatest hope for the future is through keeping and supporting the little ones which they think they do not want. That is why we keep hold of these pitiful little unmarried mothers with all the world against them, in our rescue homes until we are sure that they are strong enough to withstand further temptation."

"Do you think these cases are increasing?" Major Bale was asked.

"That is hard to answer," she replied, "but at least they are not decreasing to any noticeable degree, and from the recent published statement of Judge Jean Norris, presiding magistrate of the Women's Day Court in the Jefferson Market Court House it would seem that incorrigibility among girls is on the increase, since during the last six or eight months there girls have been brought to court on this charge than during any previous term of the Court."

"To what do you attribute this condition?"

"The trouble is usually with the home life—either too lax—or too strict and no real bond of sympathy or understanding between parents and children. Bad habits or questionable acquaintances, and certain types of public dance halls produce—in many young girls a wild disregard of all restraint. Many thinking it makes them appear sophisticated and independent to drink and use drugs, and naturally they are headed sooner or later for disaster. Many times the girls who go wrong are from the country and distant towns, and have no family ties here. They live in the ordinary boarding houses where their associations between young men and women has no supervision whatever. This is one of the reasons, as a preventive measure, why we are so anxious to establish in Baltimore a Boarding Home for young women, at rates low enough to provide the factory and shop girls with clean, comfortable and attractive rooms, well balanced meals and home comforts.

The great need for such protection is shown by the reports from our Rescue Homes and Hospitals.

"Are there so many who apply to the Salvation Army?"

"I should say so!" exclaimed the Major, emphatically.

"More than a thousand illigitimate babies are born every year in our hospitals! In some cases the mothers are wholly innocent of wrong doing as was true of Margaret—no we never tell their names—Margaret was a most attractive girl of nineteen, of good family, and the whole support of an ailing mother and two small sisters of ten and twelve years of age. She was a clever artist and was making a good living as an art designer. For several years she had been engaged to a young student who was working his way through college. They were to be married upon his graduation. As the time of the wedding approached—Margaret's mother developed an antipathy to the young man because she felt that he could not, and would not be able to support them all. He took the attitude that the mother was able to do something for herself. His own mother had been self-supporting through many years of widowhood. Arguments finally brought on a quarrel. The wedding was postponed. The man demanded that Margaret set a time when she would leave her mother and go with him to a distant city where he was to work. The result was an absolute break between them, for Margaret saw that her mother was equally determined to make her choose between them, and though Margaret grieved deeply for the man she loved she would not leave her mother.

Some months after she met an older man, prosperous in business, who seemed interested in her, stimulated her work, and sympathized with her problems. He asked her to dine with him one evening and though indifferent to the idea, her mother urged her to go. She was brought home about midnight by an elderly woman who told the mother she had fainted at the [illegible] and had been in her care all evening, and that the gentleman had insisted that she see the girl home. The mother was pleased and flattered, rather than alarmed, even when Margaret could tell nothing of her evening's experience except that she became very giddy and fainted. However, when weeks had passed and the man was not heard from again, the mother's suspicions were aroused, and when later confirmed by the girl's day on a special train with 15 men and again started out on a similar maneuver. No word had been received from him since he abandoned the train at Sprigg and took the mountain trail.

A number of deputies under Chief Deputy John Shall, spent the day in the neighborhood of Matewan, but they were powerless to check the fighting.

Only two of the known dead had been identified last night. They are Dan Whitt, said by the State police to be a non-union miner, killed at Matewan while attempting to obtain water for a refuge family, and a man named Smith, whose initials were believed to be D. W., who was killed at McCarr.

Contradictory statements were issued here last night by representatives of the Williamson Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine controversy in the region. David Robb of the miners' union, declared that the battle was brought about by attacks on union miners by nonunion men employed in the field. An official of the operators' association, who refused to have his name used, contradicted every statement made by Mr. Robb.

This official declared "the strike" [illegible] already broken." Mr. Ro[illegible] said that at the present time there are about 2,000 men still on "lock strike" in the district.

Richard Beverly, who according the State police, is a member of t United Mine Workers of America, w arrested in the Kentucky mounta and will be brought to this city. He charged with participating in the ba tle.

The fiercest fighting this morn occurred at McCarr, where, accordi to Captain Brockus, sympathizers miners and men on guard at the mine are heavily armed with equipme which includes a half dozen machi guns and automatic rifles. Thousan of shots have been fired at McCa stone, Captain Brokus said.

Y. M. C. A. War Work

General Pershing Acknowledges Debt of the Nation and Service Men to the Organization

As the former Commander-in-Chief of the American Expeditionary Forces General John J. Pershing recently acknowledged the debt owed not only by the former service men but by the country to the Young Men's Christian Association for the work it did in France. His acknowledgements were made at the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. at the Waldorf-Astoria, the first get together meeting since their suspension on account of the war.

General Pershing was outspoken in saying that some of the criticism directed against the Y. M. C. A. because of its alleged shortcomings in France, was unjust, and he made it plain that organizations of a rival nature hastened to take advantage of this criticism. He explained that the Y. M. C. A. had taken charge of the army canteens at his direction, and that the inability of the Y. M. C. A. to provide canteens with adequate supplies was due, first, to the fact that the tonnage originally allotted to the Y. M. C. A. had to be decreased as tonnage became more scarce, and to the difficulty of increasing its personnel with efficient workers to keep pace with the arrivals of forces in France.

General Pershing was the principal guest at the meeting, which was arranged by a committee including A. C. Bedford, Cleveland H. Dodge, D. Hunter McAlpin, Herbert L. Pratt, William Jay Schieffelin, James M. Speers William Sloane and Alfred E. Marling, who acted as toastmaster.

"It was in the World War that we came in closest touch with the organization," said General Pershing. "Your representatives were already in the field when our advance troops reached France. They were ready and anxious to be of every possible service. Supported by your patriotic membership here at home and under the leadership of that able administrator, Mr. Carter the organization began to expand at once to meet our needs.

"We all had our hands very full in those trying days. The army had to be organized, and a great general staff had to be built up to handle the multitude of details as to plans of operations, supply and transportation. It was in the midst of these preparations that I called up Mr. Carter and asked the Y. M. C. A. to take charge of the army canteens to follow our troops. He responded promptly and entered upon the work as a duty."

Referring to the difficult transportation situation and other obstacles met by the organization, General Pershing said:

"All these things were a tremendous handicap, and when its work came to be compared with that of other welfare organizations operating with far less responsibility and covering only special areas, there arose some unjust criticism of which other organizations too often took advantage. But as a matter of fact, this feature of the work of the Y. M. C. A. deserves great praise, and I should like to express here and in their presence my deep appreciation of the results obtained.

"Finally, I wish to express the belief that this association will continue to grow in usefulness to humanity, and will early become a universally recognized force in our national life, against which the powers of evil may not prevail."

Washington, May 14.—Francisco Villa, Mexican bandit, lately turned from the warpath to pastoral pursuits, will shortly harvest 50,000 bushels of wheat, according to a report from Consul J. W. Stewart, at Chihuahua to the Department of Commerce today.

Villa attributes his success as a farmer to the employment of modern American farm methods, the use of tractors and trucks and other machinery furnished by the Mexican government.

Albemarle County Store Is Looted by Robbers

Charlottesville, Va., May 14—Professional yeggmen entered the general merchandise store of A. L. Stevens & Co., at Ivy, eight miles west of here, at an early hour this morning blew open the safe door and took away the lock box containing $820, besides stocks and bonds to a total of $6,000. No other property was disturbed.

The burglars departed without leaving a trace other than the demolished safe. Entrance to the building was effected by smashing the iron bars which fastened the cellar window.

A HAPPY DAY FOR HER SHE STATES

Covington Woman Gains 16 Pounds On 3 Bottles of Tanlac Says Life is a Pleasure Now

"I have gained sixteen pounds on just three bottles of Tanlac and when ever I meet any of my friends they always say something about how well and strong I'm looking" said Mrs. W. H. Deaner, 104 Beech street, Covington.

"I had not felt well in several years, and had gradually grown weaker till my housework and care of the children was beyond my strength, and I just seemed to be on the verge of a breakdown. I was in a nervous strain all the time and felt so weak I feared I would give out at any minute.

"My digestion was so poor I dreaded to eat, and I was getting so thin and pale I hadn't a bit of color in my face. I simply had no appetite at all; I slept but little and couldn't see much hope of ever being well again.

"It was a happy day for me when I began taking Tanlac; for it has been the greatest blessing of my life and I can never forget the wonderful good it has done me. I am now perfectly well and can hardly realize what splendid health I am enjoying. My appetitet is just fine and I enjoy everything I eat. I sleep as peaceful as a child and feel so well and strong that the housework does not tire me one bit. Life is a pleasure now and I shall always have a warm spot in my heart for Tanlac."

Bloodhounds owned by a Mr. Palmer, residing near Staunton, were put on the trail about noon, but no tangible clue has yet been discovered of the whereabouts of the night workers.

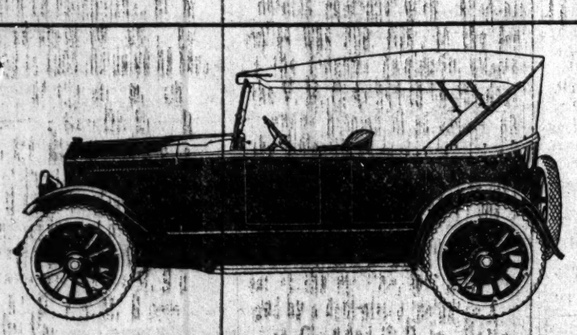
DORT

Quality Goes Clear Through

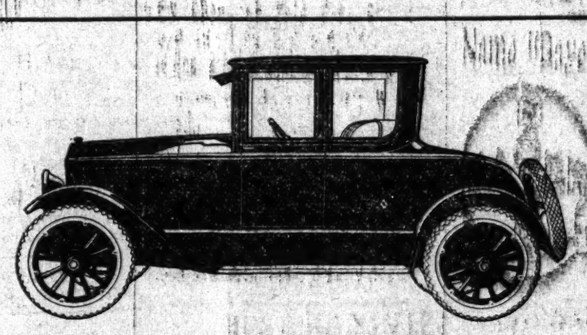
The Dort now is regarded not only as the standard of value but also as the most beautiful car in its field.



To those sound and permanent virtues that have so brilliantly distinguished the Dort there is now added an equally distinguished beauty of body.

The Dort touring car of today presents a union of reliable, consistent, thrifty performance with a beautiful body design.

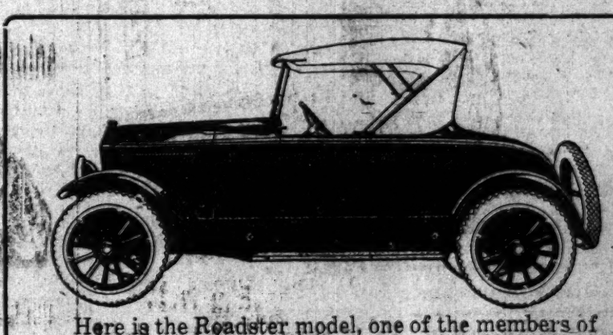
The man of moderate purse may now own a car that contributes properly to his pride while it satisfies his sense of value.



There is a certain and well-defined distinction to the Dort body design that at once places it among the most beautiful bodies in even the highest price class.

This body rests upon the Dort chassis, well and widely known as a mechanism of brilliant performance qualities.

The testimony of those whose mileage can be reckoned in tens of thousands of miles proves the very low travel cost of the Dort and its ability to "stand up" even under punishing road conditions.



Here is the Roadster model, one of the members of the family of Dort cars now arousing so much interest.

There is a racy alertness to the smooth-sweeping lines of this model that is in perfect keeping with the ready agility and ease of handling which marks the mechanical quality of the roadster's road performance.

A new seat design adds to your travel comfort and joins with the velvety roadability of the car in bringing you to your destination refreshed and untired in mind and body.
